

Abstract

The present invention relates to laser-markable paper and board products, characterized in that they comprise, as absorber material, inorganic platelet-form substrates having a particle size of from 1 to 60 μm .